

Weekend workshop:

9-10 MARCH 2019 – 10am – 3pm

TURN YOUR LIFE DRAWING INTO A PAINTING ON DAY TWO - ACRYLICS

with Leigh D Walker

$ 255 ASOC/CAW/ NaturartLab members, $ 300 non-members

This dynamic two day workshop will focus on the 'nuts and bolts' of measuring, proportion and the importance of good draftsmanship. On the first day of the workshop, after warming up, we will explore a long pose and really get to grips with measurement, proportion and use of line and tone. On the second day we will use our knowledge of drawing the figure to create a life painting. Using acrylic paints, we will explore building up layers, working with tone and colour, glazing and how to create a coherent painting.

For the workshop we will be using pencil or charcoal and acrylic paints.

About Leigh D. Walker

Leigh is a professional artist with extensive experience in teaching and exhibiting in Australia and the UK. Leigh's own work has been exhibited in many galleries including the National portrait Gallery in London and the Royal Scottish Academy. A passionate advocate of the skilful craft of drawing and painting, Leigh teaches many classes and workshops in the ACT and surrounds.

Art, connection & creation – awaken your inner artist

It is intensely important to me to create and make art. It's an inner drive and I sometimes wake in the middle of the night with the beginnings of a painting or drawing in my head. I love to play about with different techniques and materials to create unique, emotive and expressive art. Because I work in a very intuitive way, I never know what's going to happen in the studio day to day – there's always a surprise just round the corner!
